

Positive Behaviour for Learning

Positive Behaviour for Learning (PB4L) represents a major shift in managing disruptive behaviour by students in our education system.

- It is built on the foundation that positive behaviour can be learnt and difficult and disruptive behaviour can be unlearnt.
- It moves away from seeing individual students as a 'problem', and towards proactively changing the environment around them to support positive behaviour.
- It recognises that punitive and exclusionary approaches to discipline do not bring about long-term and sustainable changes in behaviour.
- It supports the national application of a small number of evidence-based programmes and frameworks that we know work.
- It recognises that there are no quick fixes. It takes a long-term view to ensure that changes in behaviour are sustained.

Whether it is truth or beauty, friendship or fairness, what's right or what's real, philosophy deals with so many things that children love to discuss. Set these ideas and concerns in stories and novels written for children. Add to this the procedures of classroom inquiry based upon the philosophical tools of reasoning and imaginative exploration. Top it off with a teacher whose role is to develop and challenge the students thinking. This is the starting point for philosophy for children.

Educating for Asia

Our education programme provides information, resources and professional development opportunities to help school leaders develop students with the skills and knowledge they'll need to embrace future prospects in Asia.

Our Principal is a member of the PAAN (Principals Asia Aware Network).

We are a Tokyo based organization specializing in cultural and educational exchange activities between Asia and the rest of the world. Our main focus is on working with school communities but since being founded in 1979, we have collaborated with a diverse range of individuals and organizations in a wide variety of fields.

Our mission is to promote international understanding and friendship through the exchange of knowledge, skills and friendship. We achieve this by bringing participants from Asia - largely Japan but occasionally elsewhere - to work closely with hosting communities, tailoring each visit to meet the skills, needs and interests of both sides.

To date we have facilitated almost 17,000 visits to over 50 countries. We work closely with all parties to ensure each opportunity reaches its full potential and delivers the greatest possible rewards.
